Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Second Annual Report of the Bureau of Agriculture, Labor and Industry of Montana: For the Year Ended November 30, 1894 As the proper study of Mankind is Man, so is the struct lire, development and relation of their constituent elements, and all conditions affecting the people of communities and commonwealths the proper study of all, especially of those who make, expound and administer the laws. This study is known as Social Science. Although comparatively new in its practical evolution and just coming into public appreciation, it is rapidly developing into and being recognized by the better intelligence of the world as one of the most important sciences auxiliary to good government and intelligent legislation. When a skillful physician is called to treat a patient, his first effort is to ascertain as precisely as possible what ailment exists and the conditions of the person to be treated. He then administers treatment accordingly. If instead of thus first carefully ascertaining the nature of the disorder from the patient, or those cognizant of I tie facts, he makes no inquiry relating thereto, nor has intelligent regard for the const it nation, characteristics or condition of the patient, but proceeds in a haphazard way be deluge his victim with the most convenient nostrums, the patient, if he survives to need subsequent treatment, is likely to seek it from other hands, and the off-hand practitioner will soon find public confidence materially abating. Legislative bodies are the physicians who minister to the ailments of the body politic. They should know its conditions and derangements as the medical practitioner should know those of the body corporeal. The ascertainment and presentation in intelligible...
